

A brief of
Theory of Spherical Vortex

A Spherical vortex of Matter is born whereas, Energy Matter is flown along the 4th dimension contracting towards a high dynamic zero center or expanding towards a less dynamic infinity.

Theory of Spherical Vortex: -

'Space Matter' is organized as an observable dynamic gathering, by flowing of the 'Energy Matter' in-between absolute zero and infinity along the 4th dimension.

Demonstration of a Spherical Vortex:-

1. Get a plain ball and draw three circumferences which are perpendicular to each other.
2. Give directions for each circle on your own.
3. Draw safe paths for particle movements to avoid head to head collides.

Observations:-

1. Now you observe the boll to find two opposite poles emerged upon the globe.
2. If you connect both poles by an axle, you would observe that, almost all the particles are moving in one direction around the axle.

Deductions:-

1. Suppose the axle is a rod of iron and electric current is moving along the paths that you have drawn? Then the system must be polarized with a magnetic North Pole and a South Pole, as shown in the figure.
2. Current is but just a flow of electrons and Earth absorbs much of them from the atmosphere and atmosphere is regularly being recharged by the flux of Solar Wind.
3. Magma shell and the crust of Earth contain much iron and having a rich flux of electrons (receiving from thunder strokes) flowing around, even a student can match the globe to an electric magnet.
4. But non spinning planets such as Mercury, Venus and Pluto don't have a spherical vortex of charged particles in them and as a proof of the theory, they don't claim for considerable magnetic fields.
5. Sun is exemplary for stars having centrifugal spherical vortexes of charged particles in them. A massive flux of electrons is coming out from the core of Sun, through this gigantic dynamic organization.
6. Electrons are produced by nuclear fusion of hydrogen (deuterium) in the core but even a school child may question how hydrogen the lightest known thing in worlds went so deep down in to the core of Sun against Archimedes.
7. So we have got to deduce the matter such that, hydrogen is being born there from expansion of the Dark Matter at the core. (pl refer 'Star Mechanism'/Space Dynamic-V3/2011)
8. Sun's real energy capacity or real mass is not known therefore to us, because dark matter doesn't respond for Newton's Gravity.
9. Dark matter is consumed in stars to produce energy and in contrary dark matter is grown at the core of polarized 'Productive Planets' like Earth by absorbing energy from solar wind.(pl refer 'Earth Mechanism'/Space Dynamics-V3/2010)
10. That's why productive planets are growing in mass and size as well by pushing the cracked old crust segments (tectonic plates) more and more apart.

Discussion:-

Gravity cannot explain the dynamics at macroscopic or microscopic extremes in the world.

Gravity's maximum field strength could never be extended effectively beyond the limit of solar systems. Also Gravity cannot explain the dynamics in atoms or interact between energy particles such as, electrons, protons , Neutrons(dark matter) & photons etc.

Only the theory of 'Spherical Vortex' can explain 'Galactic Dynamics' as well as the inter atomic dynamics with help of Electromagnetism too.

Medium pressure variation is the main parameter which governs the dynamics of Galaxies and not an inch fore progress of 'Physical Science' would be expected unless the scientists of the 21st century accept existence of 'free space medium' and the '4th Dimension' of the world.
